BUSINESS CONFIDENCE RAPIDLY RETURNING

Signs of Improved Investment Demand Are Manifest-Opening of New Currency System Helps.

Difficulties were still met in cotton Difficulties were still met in cotton exports, in spite of the reopening of the exchanges and removal of contraband restrictions. Export demand for copper improved regardless of the embargo. There were increased inquiries and larger orders in the steel trade. The effect of the rapid marketing of wheat on reserve supplies caused some forebodings! November gross earnings of railroads registered severe shrinkage. President Wilson's reference to the problems of the railroads in his letter to Secretary McAdoo added to hopes of a favorable rate decision.

The first statement of the local clearing-house under the new banking laws was rather unsatisfactory, in that it falled to disclose increases or contrac-tions in the detailed account, which excess reserves reached the record-breaking aggregate of $174,830,540, due largely to reduced reserve require-ments.
